Gottlob Frege (1848–1925) was one of the founders of analytical philosophy and the greatest innovator in logic since Aristotle. He introduced many influential philosophical ideas such as the distinctions between function and argument or between sense and reference. However, his thought is not readily accessible to the non-expert. His conception of logic, which was crucial to his grand project, the reduction of arithmetic to logic, is especially difficult to grasp. This book provides a lucid and critical introduction to Frege's logic as he developed it in his groundbreaking first book, Begriffsschrift (Conceptual Notation, 1879). It guides the reader directly to the core of Frege's philosophy and to some of the most pertinent issues in contemporary philosophy of language, logic, mathematics, and mind. Unlike most other books, this commentary explains Frege's own logical notation, allowing students to study and appreciate those aspects of his work that he valued most but are least understood today.

Collective Care provides an ethnographic account of urban indigenous life and caregiving practices in the face of Saskatchewan's HIV epidemic, based on a five-year study conducted in partnership with AIDS Saskatoon. The book focuses on the contrast between indigenous values of collective kin care and non-indigenous models of intensive maternal care. It explores how women and men negotiate the forces of HIV to render motherhood a site of cultural meaning, personal and collective well-being, and sometimes individual and community despair. It also introduces readers to how HIV is indigenized in western Canada and how all HIV-affected and infected mothers must negotiate this cultural and racialized terrain. Featuring in-depth narrative interviews, notes from participant observation in AIDS Saskatoon's Drop-In Centre, and a photovoice component, this book offers an accessible account of an engaged anthropologist's work with a community that is both vulnerable and resilient. Each chapter begins with an ethnographic vignette that introduces central concepts including medical anthropology, syndemics, kinship, and indigeneity, with the overall aim
