this edited book brings together an international cast of contributors to examine how academic literacy is learned and mastered in different tertiary education settings around the world bringing to the fore the value of qualitative enquiry through ethnographic methods the authors illustrate in depth descriptions of genre knowledge and academic literacy development in first and second language writing all of the data presented in the chapters are original as well as innovative in the field in terms of content and scope and thought provoking regarding theoretical methodological and educational approaches the contributions are also representative of both novice and advanced academic writing experiences providing further insights into different stages of academic literacy development throughout the career span of a researcher set against the backdrop of internationalisation trends in higher education and the pressure on multilingual academics to publish their research outcomes in english this volume will be of use to academics and practitioners interested in the fields of languages for academic purposes applied linguistics literacy skills genre analysis and acquisition and language education this practical guide provides 36 hands on strategies for helping ells learn the necessary skills to decipher academic language in reading writing listening and speaking negotiating academic literacies teaching and learning across languages and cultures is a cross over volume in the literature between first and second language literacy this anthology of articles brings together different voices from a range of publications and fields and unites them in pursuit of an understanding of how academic ways of knowing are acquired the editors preface the collection of readings with a conceptual framework that reconsiders the current debate about the nature of academic literacies in this volume the term academic literacies denotes multiple approaches to knowledge including reading and writing critically college classrooms have become sites where a number of languages and cultures intersect this is the case not only for students who are in the process of acquiring english but for all learners who find themselves in an academic situation that exposes them to a new set of expectations this book is a contribution to the effort to discover ways of supporting learning across languages and cultures and to transform views about what it means to teach and learn to read and write and to think and know unique to this volume is the inclusion of the perspectives of writers as well as those of teachers and researchers furthermore the contributors reveal their own struggles and accomplishments as they themselves have attempted to negotiate academic literacies the chronological ordering of articles provides a historical perspective demonstrating ways in which issues related to teaching and learning across cultures have been addressed over time the readings have consistency in terms of quality depth and passion they raise important philosophical questions even as they consider practical classroom applications the editors provide a series of questions that enable the reader to engage in a generative and exciting process of reflection and inquiry this book is both a reference for teachers who work or plan to work with diverse learners and a text for graduate level courses primarily in bilingual and esl studies composition studies english education and literacy studies academic literacy for education students is an accessible textbook which teaches reading and writing skills particularly within the academic environment the book will equip students to use a range of linguistic practices that they will need for their education studies with a view to entering the teaching profession rather than studying skills separately and in isolation they will understand the relevance of literacy practices and develop a variety of communicative practices including different text types genres and disciplines tertiary institutions must provide for an increasingly diverse student population many of whom speak english as an additional language and have attended seriously under resourced schools the scale of the problem has necessitated the development of creative ways of ensuring access and successful outcomes this book covers a diverse range of topics from language policy and academic literacy practices within the curriculum to evaluation and assessment south african universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy the dominant medium of instruction in the universities is english and to a much lesser extent afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools the focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully the volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by south african educators to a wider international audience shifting the discourse from a focus on academic language to the more dynamic but less researched construct of academic literacies this volume addresses three key questions what constitutes academic literacy what does academic literacy development in adolescent multilingual students look like and how can this development be assessed what classroom contexts foster the development of academic literacies in multilingual adolescents the contributing authors provide divergent definitions of academic literacies and use dissimilar theoretical and methodological approaches to study literacy development nevertheless all chapters reflect a shared conceptual framework for examining academic literacies as situated overlapping meaning making practices this framework foregrounds students participation in valued disciplinary literacy practices emphasized in the new college and career readiness standards the notion of disciplinary practices allows the contributing authors to bridge the language content dichotomy and take a more holistic as well as nuanced view of the demands that multilingual students face in general education classrooms the volume also explores the implications of the emphasis on academic literacy practices for classroom instruction research and policy the objectives underpinning the policies to expand and widen participation have impacted on university provision to help students improve their general literacy and academic writing skills this book examines how and why students skills centres sscs gained such a hold in the sector despite the contentious nature of the research evidence that challenges the notion of the applicability of generic writing skills it is argued in the book that on a small scale sscs illustrate the paradoxes and ironies that have developed in higher education from leading authorities in both adolescent literacy and content area teaching this book addresses the particular challenges of literacy learning in each of the major academic disciplines chapters focus on how to help students successfully engage with texts and ideas in english literature science math history and arts classrooms the book shows that while general strategies for reading informational texts are essential they are not enough students also need to learn processing strategies that are quite specific to each subject and its typical tasks or problems vignettes from exemplary classrooms illustrate research based ways to build content area knowledge while targeting essential reading and writing skills academic literacy prepare to learn will appeal to lecturers with large classes as well as tutors dealing with smaller groups
