this volume contains a selection of papers presented at the fifth conference on the foundations of arab linguistics fal v cambridge 2018 the first part of the book deals with sībawayhi s kitāb the oldest known treatise of arabic grammar after providing insights on some of its specific terminology these chapters evaluate its place as a source within the long term tradition of grammatical studies the second part of the book focuses on parallel developments in the arabic grammatical theory both in the classical and postclassical periods up to the 15th century some contributions also address the relationship between grammar and other disciplines notably philosophy and qurʾānic exegesis as such this volume aims to deepen our knowledge of the development of linguistic theories in the islamicate world this volume includes the reflections of leading researchers on arabic and semitic languages also understood as systems and representations the work first deals with biblical hebrew early aramaic afroasiatic and semitic its core focuses on morpho syntactic semantic pragmatic rhetoric and logic matters showing arabic grammar s place within the system of the sciences of language in the second part authors deal with lexical issues before they explore dialectology the last stop is a reflection on how arabic linguistics may prevent the understanding of the arabs own grammatical theory and the teaching and learning of arabic all contributions deal with the reception of theories in the arabic grammatical tradition from the time of sībawayhi d end of the 8th century c e to the later grammarians in the 14th century c e after sībawayhi considerable changes in the linguistic situation took place the language of the arab bedouin described by him died as a native language grammars also changed even if grammarians used for the most part the data given by sībawayhi this volume aims to determine continuities and changes in arabic grammars providing a new perspective on the impact of cultural and historical developments and on the founding principles of sībawayhi s kitāb this collection of papers deals with aspects of the history of arabic and hebrew linguistics these papers appeared simultaneously in historiographia linguistica 8 2 3 1981 the articles collected in this volume form a contribution to the study of arabic linguistics most of them deal with arabic medieval grammatical thought and terminology and are based on the oldest grammatical treatises known to us especially sībawayhi s al kitāb the study of these two topics is interrelated since the understanding of arabic grammatical thought depends on the understanding of its terminology and vice versa during the nineteenth and the twentieth centuries some prominent scholars maintained that the linguistic data supplied by the early arab grammarians are unreliable and as a result their grammatical rules do not accord with the linguistic reality of old arabic professor levin s studies concerning the history of arabic language contribute to the refutation of this view showing that sibawayhi s linguistic method was mainly descriptive and that the linguistic information furnished by him is authentic and reliable professor levin also shows that sibawayhi s accurate description of old arabic is based primarily on the ordinary speech of certain bedouin tribes who lived in southern iraq in the eighth century the linguistic data found in the ketab indicate that these bedouins still spoke old arabic dialects aryeh levin is professor of arabic at the hebrew university of jerusalem he is also the author of a grammar of the arabic dialect of jerusalem in hebrew
