the author of hebrews is arguing that god himself has brought about the fulfillment of these institutions through his son's priesthood his once for all sacrifice and the new covenant he inaugurated in the last days these new institutions are never denied the jews in fact the context of the epistle presumes that these are primarily for the jews considering that the author was speaking to a jewish christian community the author is not arguing for the abandonment by god of the jewish people but rather for the abandonment of the shadowy means by which god's people drew near to him it is here we can speak of a qualified supersessionism according to the author of hebrews the levitical priesthood the mosaic covenant and the levitical sacrifices have been superseded by jesus' priesthood the new covenant and jesus' once for all sacrifice however we conclude that the polemical passages in hebrews do not promote hatred of the jews nor do they advocate the destruction of the jewish people rather the author of hebrews stresses the fulfillment of specific jewish institutions for the benefit of the jews it is this idea of fulfillment that rules out the charge that the epistle promotes the supersession of the jewish people because of god's great love for his people he has provided a superior way by which his people can draw near to him from the conclusion why does the christian walk often feel like an ongoing struggle and why does god's creation include imperfection let alone forces that are intent on thwarting god's creative work in seeking a response to these questions this book argues that the biblical accounts describe creation in terms of a progressive transformation process whereby the initially incomplete created order will reach perfection only in the fulfillment of new creation the following discussion then outlines a comprehensive framework for the biblical theology of humanity's struggles centered on three key themes corporeal temptation deficient social structures and the much debated notion of spiritual warfare the book presents an overarching canonical narrative that threads together a series of diverse biblical topics from job's temptation to the atonement the final part surveys biblical teaching on how human conduct can be aligned with god's creative purpose and discusses three assignments from jesus to believers to celebrate the eucharist to pray the lord's prayer and to fulfill the great commission
