this work is a historical study of the philosophical writings emerging from imperial russia s theological academies orthodoxy s higher educational institutions that ran parallel to the secular universities from their inception to the aftermath of the bolshevik revolution unlike with nineteenth century russian revolutionary thought there are few secondary studies of the philosophical works stemming from the academies these philosophical works focused on ontology and as such stand in sharp contrast to the shift toward epistemology in that century as happened in germany another feature of the academy philosophies was the continual and explicit attempt to set themselves apart from the pervasive subjectivism of western philosophical systems although a largely unacknowledged influence persisted at no time did the academy philosophers look to rational inquiry for more than an assist in understanding their theology instead they appealed to tradition and to an alleged direct insight into religious truths at the expense of logic and rational argument the ultimate result was the peculiar historical insularity of their community and concomitantly a subservience to the political state traits that persist to this day the confrontation between the wehrmacht and the red army on the eastern front of world war ii was defined by incalculable suffering destruction casualties and heroism while many historians have chronicled the epic nature of that arena of war it has largely been left to russian novelists to fully express the intense human dimensions of that conflict frank ellis s groundbreaking study provides the first comprehensive survey of that impressive body of literature canvassing a wide spectrum of works by soviet and post soviet writers many of whom were war veterans themselves ellis uncovers themes both common to war literature in general and distinctive to the soviet experience he recalls the earliest works in this genre by emmanuil kazakevich grigorii baklanov and iurii bondarev presents a long overdue assessment of vasil bykov s work which focuses on the partisan war in bykov s native belorussia and brings into sharp focus the powerful stalingrad novels of vasilii grossman konstantin simonov viktor nekrasov and bondarev he also provides keen insights into the heroic portraits of stalin in the fiction of ivan stadniuk and vladimir bogomolov and examines three important war novels published during the 1990s viktor astaf ev s the damned and the dead georgii vladimov s the general and his army and vladimir but s heads tails one of the many threads running throughout ellis s study is the dilemma of the red army soldier condemned to serve a regime that was utterly paranoid regarding the allegiances of its own armies so much so that soviet soldiers often felt as threatened by the soviet government as they did by the german armies many of these novels reinforce the now well known fact that stalin devoted considerable resources to ferreting out soldiers whose actions or inactions suggested disloyalty to his repressive regime a few of them such as grossman s life and fate became battlegrounds in their own right pitting soviet writers against soviet censors in a struggle over the public memory of the war russia s memories of world war ii are forever tied to the suffering of its people ellis s rich and revealing work shows us why the leading expert on soviet military history resurrects a failed world war ii campaign that the official russian history seeks to erase from memory reconstructing the red army s first invasion of romania in the spring of 1944 glantz shows that despite the campaign s abysmal failure it provided a clear indication of stalin s strong interest in the balkans and further damaged the german army s ability to stop the soviet war machine in its drive toward berlin a social history of imperial russia is the first general synthesis of russian social history from peter the great to the october revolution of 1917 boris mironov begins with background information on pre petrine russia and then focuses on the crucial events of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries he demonstrates how social events in this period including the creation of a modernized autocratic state the abolition of serfdom increasing urbanization and the first stirrings of capitalism played out in the revolution and beyond
