life and death in freud and heidegger argues that mortality is a fundamental structuring element in human life the ordinary view of life and death regards them as dichotomous and separate this book explains why this view is unsatisfactory and presents a new model of the relationship between life and death that sees them as interlinked using heidegger s concept of being towards death and freud s notion of the death drive it demonstrates the extensive influence death has on everyday life and gives an account of its structural and existential significance by bringing the two perspectives together this book presents a reading of death that establishes its significance for life creates a meeting point for philosophical and psychoanalytical perspectives and examines the problems and strengths of each it then puts forth a unified view based on the strengths of each position and overcoming the problems of each finally it works out the ethical consequences of this view this volume is of interest for philosophers mental health practitioners and those working in the field of death studies this volume sheds new light on the experience of ancient greek warfare by identifying and examining three fundamental transitions undergone by the classical athenian hoplite as a result of his military service his departure to war his homecoming from war having survived and his homecoming from war having died as a conscript a man regularly called upon by his city state to serve in the battle lines and perform his citizen duty the most common military experience of the hoplite was one of transition he was departing to or returning from war on a regular basis especially during extended periods of conflict scholarship has focused primarily on the experience of the hoplite after his return with a special emphasis on his susceptibility to post traumatic stress disorder ptsd but the moments of transition themselves have yet to be explored in detail taking each in turn owen rees examines the transitions from two sides from within the domestic environment as a member of an oikos and from within the military environment as a member of the army this analysis presents a new template for each and effectively maps the experience of the hoplite as he moves between his domestic and military duties this allows us to reconstruct the effects of war more fully and to identify moments with the potential for a traumatic impact on the individual elina gertsman s multifaceted study introduces readers to the imagery and texts of the dance of death an extraordinary subject that first emerged in western european art and literature in the late medieval era conceived from the start as an inherently public image simultaneously intensely personal and widely accessible the medieval dance of death proclaimed the inevitability of death and declared the futility of human ambition gertsman inquires into the theological socio historic literary and artistic contexts of the dance of death exploring it as a site of interaction between text image and beholder pulling together a wide variety of sources and drawing attention to those images that have slipped through the cracks of the art historical canon gertsman examines the visual textual aural pastoral and performative discourses that informed the creation and reception of the dance of death and proposes different modes of viewing for several paintings each of which invited the beholder to participate in an active kinesthetic experience
