this study addresses two desiderata of historical emotion research reflecting on the interdependence of textual functions and the representation of emotions and acknowledging the interdependence of studies on the premodern and modern periods in the history of emotion contemporary research on the history of emotion is characterised by a proliferation of studies on very different eras authors themes texts and aspects the enthusiasm and confidence with which situations actions and interactions involving emotions in history are discovered however has led to overly direct attempts to access the represented objects emotions feelings affects as a result too little attention has been paid to the conditions and functions of their representations that is why this study engages with the emotion research of historians from an unashamedly philological perspective such an approach provides among other things insights into the varied often contradictory observations that can be made about the history of emotion in modernity and premodernity part of honore de balzac s sprawling epic the human comedy the novella the commission in lunacy focuses on the story of a bachelor who feels his youth rapidly slipping away and tries to renew his sense of vigor and fulfillment through various means he crosses paths with the beguiling madame d espard and soon finds himself caught up in a nefarious scheme
