The Happy Prince and Other Tales, sometimes called The Happy Prince and Other Stories, is a collection of stories for children by Oscar Wilde, first published in May 1888. It contains five stories: The Happy Prince, The Nightingale, and The Rose, The Selfish Giant, The Devoted Friend, and The Remarkable Rocket. The Happy Prince, in a town full of suffering poor people, a swallow who was left behind after his flock flew off to Egypt for the winter meets the statue of the late Happy Prince, who in reality has never experienced true sorrow for he lived in a palace where sorrow was not allowed to enter. Viewing various scenes of people suffering in poverty from his tall monument, the Happy Prince asks the swallow to take the ruby from his hilt, the sapphires from his eyes, and the gold leaf covering his body to give to the poor. The Nightingale and the Rose. A Nightingale overhears a student complaining that the professor's daughter will not dance with him as he is unable to give her a red rose. A lizard, a butterfly, and a daisy laugh at the student for doing so. The Nightingale visits all the rose trees in the garden, and one of the roses tells her there is a way to produce a red rose, but only if the Nightingale is prepared to sing the sweetest song for the rose all night with her heart pressing into a thorn, sacrificing her life. The Selfish Giant. The Selfish Giant owns a beautiful garden which has 12 peach trees and lovely fragrant flowers in which children love to play. After returning from the school, on the Giant's return from seven years visiting his friend the Cornish Ogre, he takes offence at the children and builds a wall to keep them out. He puts a notice board: "Trespassers will be prosecuted." The garden falls into perpetual winter. One day the Giant is awakened by a linnet and discovers that spring has returned to the garden as the children have found a way in through a gap in the wall. The Devoted Friend. This story is more or less a story within a story. It begins with a water rat commenting to a duck about her ducklings who are refusing to obey her. When he mentions friendship, a linnet flies down from a tree and begins the story intended to explain to the water rat what true friendship is. Hans was a little man who owned a beautiful garden where he grew flowers of all kinds and colours which were sold in the market to make some money. He enjoyed the company of another man called Hugh, a miller who used to visit Hans very often during the summer time and with whom he shared thoughts about friendship and loyalty. Hans was so devoted to Hugh that he even gifted him whole bunches of flowers from his own garden. The remarkable rocket: this story concerns a firework who is one of many to be let off at the wedding of a prince and princess. The rocket is extremely pompous and self-important and denigrates all the other fireworks. Eventually bursting into tears to demonstrate his sensitivity, as this makes him wet, he fails to ignite and the next day is thrown away into a ditch.

the happy prince and other tales. Sometimes called The Happy Prince and Other Stories, it is a collection of stories for children by Oscar Wilde, first published in May 1888. It contains five stories: The Happy Prince, The Nightingale and the Rose, The Selfish Giant, The Devoted Friend, and The Remarkable Rocket. In a town full of suffering poor people, a swallow who was left behind after his flock flew off to Egypt for the winter meets the statue of the late happy prince who, in reality, has never experienced true sorrow for he lived in a palace where sorrow was not allowed to enter. Viewing various scenes of people suffering in poverty from his tall monument, the happy prince asks the swallow to take the ruby from his hilt, the sapphires from his eyes, and the gold leaf covering his body to give to the poor. As the winter comes and the happy prince is stripped of all of his beauty, his lead heart breaks when the swallow dies as a result of his selfless deeds and severe cold. The people, unaware of their good deeds, take the statue down from the pillar due to its shabbiness, intending to replace it with one of the mayor. The metal melted in a furnace, leaving behind the broken heart and the dead swallow. They are thrown in a dust heap. These are taken up to heaven by an angel that has deemed them the two most precious things in the city. This is affirmed by God, and they live forever in his city of gold and garden of paradise. The happy prince, high above a city, stands an ornate statue of the happy prince, recently deceased. He oversees the town and is pained by the suffering of his people. One night a swallow who had not gone to Egypt with his flock for the winter because he was pursuing a beautiful reed arrives in the city and rests on the happy prince's statue. The swallow notices the prince is crying and the prince explains that during his lifetime

he had lived in a palace devoid of misery and therefore had never experienced sorrow now though he can see the suffering of his people he then asks the swallow to distribute the gemstones and gold leaf from his form to various families in need the swallow loves the prince and decides to stay by the time winter arrives though the happy prince is stripped of all his beauty while the swallow dies of the harsh cold as a result the happy prince's lead heart breaks when the mayor finds the statue in such a decrepit state he decides to take it down melt it and make an ornate statue of himself the lead heart and the dead swallow are discarded like they are nothing but when god tells an angel to bring him the two most precious things in the city the angel brings him the dead bird and the lead heart the selfish giant when the selfish giant returns from a seven year visit with the cornish ogre he is furious to find twelve children playing in his beautiful garden angered by their presence he builds a wall and puts up a notice saying trespassers will be prosecuted this causes his property to fall into an undying winter no trees grow and spring and summer never come one day he is awakened by the sound of a bird he looks out his window and sees that the children have found a way back in which results in spring returning to the garden the sight inspires the giant to break down the wall but as soon as he steps out all but one of the children run away in fright he helps a small crying boy climb a tree and invites the other children back in announcing the garden is now theirs as well as the years pass by the children continue to come to play with the giant but the small boy he had helped never returns breaking his heart one winter morning the now old and frail giant sees the boy he once helped standing beneath a magnificent tree the boy bears a stigmata meaning he is jesus christ and comes to take the giant to paradise later the other children find the giant's corpse under tree covered in white blossoms
