this volume collects gigerenzer's recent articles on the psychology of rationality this volume should appeal like the earlier volumes to a broad mixture of cognitive psychologists philosophers economists and others who study decision making from the initial investigation of a crime to the sentencing of an offender a wide range of practices within the criminal justice system draw on psychological knowledge in this book prominent cognitive and social psychology researchers analyze the processes involved in such tasks as interviewing witnesses detecting deception and eliciting eyewitness reports and identification from adults and children also examined are factors that influence decision making by jurors and judges including the persuasive strategies used by lawyers throughout findings from experimental research are translated into clear recommendations for improving the quality of evidence and the fairness of investigative and legal proceedings the book also addresses salient methodological questions and identifies key directions for future investigation it is refreshing to see a book such as this which is both broad in its conceptualization of the field of child research and deep in its focus the volume's editors are paragons of awareness when it comes to the need for interdisciplinary research and theory to illuminate the lives and experience of children james garbarino loyola university chicago covers a satisfying and unprecedentedly wide range of research relating to childhood the contributors include many eminent international scholars of childhood making the book a valuable resource for child researchers child advocates will also find the book to be invaluable in their efforts to improve children's well being and to change policies and practices for the better anne smith university of otago a really scintillating collection that will provide a lasting perspective on child studies stimulating and comprehensive jonathan bradshaw university of york in keeping with global changes in children s social and legal status this handbook includes examination of children as family members friends learners consumers people of faith and participants in law and politics the contributors also discuss the methodological and ethical requirements for research that occurs in natural settings and that enables children themselves to describe their perspective the book is divided into three parts part i setting specific issues in child research part ii population specific issues in child research part iii methods in research on children and childhood
