on june 29 1950 the u s launched its first ever air strikes on the north korean capital pyongyang marking the start of what would become the longest conflict in history between two industrial powers four decades later the end of the cold war in 1989 and the disintegration of the soviet union in 1991 marked the beginning of a new phase of the conflict with a new unipolar world order centered on the power of the u s and western world leaving north korea in unprecedented isolation now unsupported in its fight against a western superpower intent on its destruction the small but technologically adept and heavily militarized east asian state would need to adopt more radical measures to ensure its security over the next 35 years the conflict would transform from a period of north korean decline in the face of tremendous economic and military pressure to one of an ascent in its power and decline in the west as international order evolved past the unipolar era surviving the unipolar era elucidates the conflict's transformation beginning with unprecedented U.S. led efforts to achieve North Korea's total collapse and elimination through maximum pressure and ending three decades later with a subsiding of Pyongyang's international isolation and the modernization of its economy armed forces and nuclear deterrent. A. B. Abrams highlights how the small state has been able to hold its own in multiple standoffs with the world's superpower successfully weather economic sanctions and prevent penetration of its information space and the implications that this has had for the country the region and the wider world. He details the strong consistency in American objectives and the evolution of consensus across five separate administrations on how these should be pursued as the circumstances of the conflict transformed in the context of prevailing geopolitical economic and security trends. Abrams projects the future course of the conflict including aspects such as Western difficulties coming to terms with North Korea's ascent U.S. policy priorities going forward and the growing opportunities that an emerging new global cold war is likely to provide Pyongyang.

Christmas is coming and Max wants horse wise to get in the holiday spirit. He announces that they are going to have Secret Santas but there's a catch: you can't give something you have to do something. It sounds like fun until they draw names. Lisa gets Max, Carole gets Lisa and Stevie gets Veronica. Carole would love to do something for Lisa but since they already do things for each other all the time what? Meanwhile Lisa has a lot of family visiting and they aren't giving her room to breathe let alone do anything for Max. As for Stevie she would love to do something to Veronica but that wouldn't be in the holiday spirit. Suddenly doing the right thing is really hard.
