providing a comprehensive review of theories and research in cross cultural psychology this text places them within a critical thinking framework for examining analysing and evaluating cross cultural data it explores several fields including sensation perception and motivation in recent years there has been a wealth of new research in cognition particularly in relation to supporting theoretical constructs about how cognitions are formed processed reinforced and how they then affect behavior many of these theories have arisen and been tested in geographic isolation it remains to be seen whether theories that purport to describe cognition in one culture will equally prove true in other cultures the handbook of motivation and cognition across cultures is the first book to look at these theories specifically with culture in mind the book investigates universal truths about motivation and cognition across culture relative to theories and findings indicating cultural differences coverage includes the most widely cited researchers in cognition and their theories as seen through the looking glass of culture the chapters include self regulation by tory higgins unconscious thought by john bargh attribution theory by bernie weiner and self verification by bill swann among others the book additionally includes some of the best new researchers in cross cultural psychology with contributors from germany new zealand japan hong kong and australia in the future culture may be the litmus test of a theory before it is accepted and this book brings this question to the forefront of cognition research includes contributions from researchers from germany new zealand japan hong kong and australia for a cross cultural panel provides a unique perspective on the effect of culture on scientific theories and data includes proceedings of the 54th 55th annual meetings of the association 1946 47 and proceedings of meetings of various regional psychological associations an enormous amount of scientific research compels two fundamental conclusions about the human mind the mind is the product of evolution and the mind is shaped by culture these two perspectives on the human mind are not incompatible but until recently their compatibility has resisted rigorous scholarly inquiry evolutionary psychology documents many ways in which genetic adaptations govern the operations of the human mind but evolutionary inquiries only occasionally grapple seriously with questions about human culture and cross cultural differences by contrast cultural psychology documents many ways in which thought and behavior are shaped by different cultural experiences but cultural inquires rarely consider evolutionary processes even after decades of intensive research these two perspectives on human psychology have remained largely divorced from each other but that is now changing and that is what this book is about evolution culture and the human mind is the first scholarly book to integrate evolutionary and cultural perspectives on human psychology the contributors include world renowned evolutionary cultural social and cognitive psychologists these chapters reveal many novel insights linking human evolution to both human cognition and human culture including the evolutionary origins of cross cultural differences the result is a stimulating introduction to an emerging integrative perspective on human nature with its accessible language and lively narrative this volume engages its readers in an intellectual journey through the fascinating research literatures in psychology anthropology and the cognate disciplines
