historical critical analysis is the main way in which the bible both the hebrew bible old testament and the new testament has been examined and read by scholars in the last century the term refers to a range of methodologies which examine the origins of biblical texts in relation to other contemporaneous texts to form critical approaches and to questions of authorship audience and authenticity the aim is to get as close to the original text and its original meaning as possible for many years historical critical method has been the cornerstone upon which biblical scholarship is built even as modern studies examine other theoretical approaches to reading the text in history tradition and from different audience perspectives the historical critical method still presents the crucial starting point for students

how did the gospel of mark come to exist and how was the memory of jesus shaped by the experiences of the earliest christians for centuries biblical scholars examined texts as history literature theology or even as story curiously absent however has been attention to processes of collective memory in the creation of biblical texts drawing on modern explorations of social memory sandra huebenthal presents a model for reading biblical texts as collective memories she demonstrates that the gospel of mark is a text evolving from collective narrative memory based on recollections of jesus s life and teachings huebenthal investigates the principles and structures of how groups remember and how their memory is structured and presented in the case of mark s gospel this includes examining which image of jesus as well as which authorial self image this text as memory constructs reading mark s gospel as a text from collective memory serves less as a key to unlock questions about the historical jesus and more as an examination of memory about him within a particular community providing a new and important framework for interpreting the earliest canonical gospel in context do you believe in miracles i do my whole life is proof that miracles do happen i have to admit that i was not always the first person to be proud to say that i believe in god even though i do and i know for a fact that if it weren t for his grace and mercy and his covering i wouldn t be here i am a firm believer that everything happens for a reason so when i look back over my life everything that has happened in the past and present helped me get to the place i am today this volume provides enough information about each story in the gospel of mark and about the gospel as a whole in order to afford an informed understanding of the gospel the evangelist was not writing a book for submission to a committee for inclusion in the christian bible rather he was collecting existing oral and written tradition into a coherent narrative to promote for his own christian community an understanding of the good news of jesus the messiah the church to which the evangelist was writing probably in antioch of syria was likely already familiar with many of the stories from the church s evolving liturgy christians gathered in people s homes there were no churches as we understand that word as a specific building for christian worship it was in such gatherings in homes that stories were told perhaps as the basis for a message delivered by an elder of the church such stories illustrated some truth about jesus or addressed an issue of importance to the church in other words these individual stories were developed to serve the needs of the christian community historical accuracy was not a concern of the evangelist proclaiming jesus as messiah was his primary purpose
