Excerpt from Word Portraits of Famous Writers: The world has always been fond of personal details respecting men who have been celebrated. These were the words of Lord Beaconsfield, and with them he prefixed his description of the personal appearance of Isaac Disraeli. But we hardly need the dictum of our greatest statesman to convince ourselves that at all events every honest literature lover takes a very real interest in the individuality of those men whose names are perpetually on his lips. It is not enough for such a one merely to make himself familiar with their writings. About the publisher: Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at forgottenbooks.com. This book is a reproduction of an important historical work.
