fiction is fascinating all it provides us with is black letters on white pages yet while we read we do not have the impression that we are merely perceiving abstract characters instead we see the protagonists before our inner eye and hear their voices descriptions of sumptuous meals make our mouths water we feel physically repelled by depictions of violence or are aroused by the erotic details of sexual conquests we submerge ourselves in the fictional world that no longer stays on the paper but comes to life in our imagination reading turns into an out of the body experience or rather an in another body experience for we perceive the portrayed world not only through the protagonist s eyes but also through his ears nose tongue and skin in other words we move through the literary text as if through a virtual reality how does literature achieve this trick how does it turn mere letters into vividly experienced worlds this study argues that techniques of sensuous writing contribute decisively to bringing the text to life in the reader s imagination in detailed interpretations of british novels of the 1980s and 1990s by writers such as john berger john banville salman rushdie jeanette winterson or j m coetzee it uncovers literary strategies for turning the sensuous experience into words and for conveying it to the reader demonstrating how we make sense in and of literature both readers interested in the contemporary novel and in the sensuousness of the reading experience will profit from this innovative study that not only analyses the interest of contemporary authors in the senses but also pin points literary entry points for the sensuous force of reading this book addresses the persistence of meat consumption and the use of animals as food in spite of significant challenges to their environmental and ethical legitimacy drawing on foucault s regime of power knowledge pleasure and theorizations of the gaze it identifies what contributes to the persistent edibility of food animals even and particularly as this edibility is increasingly critiqued beginning with the question of how animals and their bodies are variously mapped by humans according to their use value it gradually unpacks the roots of our domination of food animals a domination distinguished by the literal embodiment of the other the logics of this embodied domination are approached in three inter related parts that explore respectively how knowledge sensory and emotional associations and visibility work together to render animal s bodies as edible flesh the book concludes by exploring how to more effectively challenge the entitled gaze that maintains food animals as persistently edible
