exploring the design of innovative building enclosure systems or skins in contemporary architecture and their precedents in earlier twentieth century modern architecture this book examines the tectonics the history and the influence of translucency as a defining characteristic in architecture highly illustrated throughout with drawings and full colour photographs the book shows that translucency has been and continues to be a fertile ground for architectural experimentation each chapter presents a comparative analysis of two primary buildings a recent project paired with a historical precedent highlighting how architects in different eras have realized the distinctive effects of translucency the included buildings span a variety of program types ranging from a single family residence to a factory to a synagogue whether it is pierre chareau's glass lens curtain wall at the maison de verre frank lloyd wright's wall of stacked glass tubes at the johnson wax research tower or peter zumthor's use of acid etched glass in a double skin envelope at the kunsthaus bregenz the included projects each offer an exemplary case study of innovations in materiality and fabrication techniques today among many contemporary architects there is an engagement with new technologies new material assemblies and new priorities such as sustainability and energy efficiency a resurgent interest in translucency as a defining quality in buildings has been an important part of this recent dialogue and this book makes essential reading for any architect looking to incorporate aspects of translucency into their buildings peter sloterdijk sees our digitalized world in a growing spatial crisis accompanied by the danger of a general virtuality of all relationships others view the digitalization of the world as opening up a grassroots democratic space that allows everyone access to culture against this backdrop this anthology examines the spatial characteristics of the museum between physical place and virtual space the chapters collected here approach the museum space from various disciplinary perspectives such as philosophy history art history architecture scenography museum education and curatorial studies at the same time the contributions by international museum experts are assigned to different literary genres fundamental considerations alternate with think pieces case studies and interviews the environmental imagination explores the relationship between tectonics and poetics in environmental design in architecture working thematically and chronologically from the eighteenth century to the present day this book redefines the historiography of environmental design by looking beyond conventional histories to argue that the environments within buildings are a collaboration between poetic intentions and technical means in a sequence of essays the book traces a line through works by leading architects of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries that illustrate the impact of new technologies on the conception and realisation of environments in buildings in this a consideration of the qualitative dimension of environment is added to the primarily technological narratives of other accounts in this second edition the book has been substantially rewritten and restructured to include further research conducted in the decade since the first edition a number of important buildings have been revisited in order to extend the descriptions of their environments and studies have been made of a number of newly studied significant buildings a completely new essay offers an environmental interpretation of luis barragán s magical own house in mexico city and the earlier studies of buildings by peter zumthor have been gathered into a single extended essay that includes a body of new research on the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of reynier banham s the architecture of the well tempered environment the book concludes with a critical tribute to that seminal text the environmental imagination will appeal to academics and practitioners with interests in the history theory and technology of architecture
