on january 21 2015 a pro isis twitter account reported that john maguire a 23 year old university drop out from the ottawa valley town of kemptville had been killed fighting kurds in the syrian city of kobani a few weeks before maguire had starred in a youtube video threatening canada for bombing isis forces in iraq he is one of the dozens of young canadians who have chosen to fight in a vicious conflict that really had little to do with them and with canada why would young people choose to fight in other people s wars especially one as bloody and cruel as this one why has isis become so good at attracting foreign fighters this book examines the lure of this radical islamist movement its religious beliefs sophisticated propaganda and vast social media networks isis is now a go to cause for alienated young people in the islamic world and the west does it offer answers to troubled young people are isis s crimes slavery murder rape repression and the destruction of heritage sites an attraction in and of themselves what do we do about the people who take up isis s cause but stay in their home country what do we do with the isis recruits who come home the killing game examines what draws young men and women to join violent social political movements it looks at the psychology of young men and women today and the propaganda used by all sides in the middle east conflicts as well as the security laws and the political initiatives that have been designed to stop canadians from being radicalized from the irresistible lure of marxist leninism of the 1930s through the 60s and 70s and including the appeal of nazism to young germans in the 1930s this book also investigates what it is that draws young people to join and fight for causes as different as the spanish civil war of the 1930s and the red brigades of the 1970s but with an emphasis on the attraction of isis and radical islam in our own time over the course of 66 days in 1967 more than 4 000 class enemies including young children and the elderly were murdered in daoxian a county in china s hunan province the killings spread to surrounding counties resulting in a combined death toll of more than 9 000 commonly known as the daoxian massacre the killings were one of many acts of so called mass dictatorship and armed factional conflict that rocked china during the cultural revolution however in spite of the scope and brutality of the killings there are few detailed accounts of mass killings in china s countryside during the cultural revolution s most tumultuous years years after the massacre journalist tan hecheng was sent to daoxian to report on an official investigation into the killings tan was prevented from publishing his findings in china but in 2010 he published the chinese edition of the killing wind in hong kong tan s first hand investigation of the atrocities accumulated over the course of more than 20 years blends his research with the recollections of survivors to provide a vivid account exploring how and why the massacre took place and describing its aftermath dispelling the heroic aura of class struggle tan reveals that most of the daoxian massacre s victims were hard working peaceful members of the rural middle class blacklisted as landlords or rich peasants tan also describes how political pressure and brainwashing turned ordinary people into heartless killing machines more than a catalog of horrors the killing wind is also a poignant meditation on memory moral culpability and the failure of the chinese government to come to terms with the crimes of the maoist era by painting a detailed portrait of this massacre tan makes a broader argument about the long term consequences of the cultural revolution one of the most violent political movements of the twentieth century a compelling testament to the victims and survivors of the daoxian massacre the killing wind is a monument to historical truth one that fills an immense gap in our understanding of the mao era the cultural revolution and the status of truth in contemporary china
